

LEAVING A LEGACY

To Falklands Conservation

www.falklandsconservation.com

Leaving a gift in your Will...

...can support something AMAZING

Making a Will is something that everyone should do, and including a charitable gift is a common and worthwhile action. It doesn't have to be a large amount, and may even be an item of value.

Some people choose to leave a specified amount, whilst others prefer to remember friends and family first, leaving the remainder of their estate to a good cause.

Many people ask family and friends to make an "In Memoriam" donation; a personal gift in memory of a loved one. Some also suggest donations to a charity in lieu of flowers at a funeral.

Donations are welcome any time, and UK tax payers can sign up for Gift Aid to increase the value of the donation to Falklands Conservation.

Including a legacy to a registered charity such as Falklands Conservation can reduce an estate's inheritance tax burden.

Fantastic Falklands

These islands are truly special, and by coming together we can all work towards a bright future for the wildlife and nature of the Falkland Islands. Through advocacy, conservation-focused research, hands-on conservation work, and community engagement, we work towards our vision of a well-functioning natural environment, managed by those living closest to it.

This work takes time and dedication but with thanks to continued support from many sources, positive change can happen. Between 2012 and 2017 the black-browed albatross went from Endangered to a species of least conservation concern, and in 2021 we saw the nearshore waters of the Falkland Islands confirmed a Key Biodiversity Area for Endangered sei whales—the first such site in the world, and a global recognition of just how nature-rich and incredible our coastal areas are.

There is much work still to be done, but with your support we will continue to restore and conserve our incredible flora and fauna, ensuring that the vibrant ecosystems of the Falkland Islands can flourish long into the future.

Legacies help us to:

- Safeguard colonies of penguins and albatrosses
- Inspire and educate young islanders to care for their natural heritage
- Restore key habitats by planting native flora and removing invasive species
- Advise and assist government and landowners to care for the nature under their guardianship
- Care for our own island sites and nature reserves, including the fantastic New Island archipelago
- Research wildlife populations and behaviours to benefit conservation efforts.

Your gift will be an investment
in our islands'
WILD FUTURE

Please remember us

If you are considering leaving a legacy and would like further information, or if you have remembered Falklands Conservation in your Will, please reach out to us.

All Will-making should be guided by an experienced solicitor, and contacting us about leaving a legacy is in no way legally binding. Your information will be treated in the strictest confidence, complying with all GDPR standards.

To receive more information on Falklands Conservation and how your legacy could make a real contribution to our work, contact us via ukadmin@conservation.org.fk or call +44 1767 693710 (UK).

Alternatively, write to us at
Falklands Conservation,
The Gatehouse,
The Lodge,
Sandy,
Bedfordshire,
SG19 2DL,
United Kingdom.

Help us to make a DIFFERENCE

FALKLANDS CONSERVATION

Incorporating the New Island Conservation Trust

Partnering with the local and international community to conserve
the Falkland Islands' natural environment.

@FalklandsConservation

@FI_Consevation

www.falklandsconservation.com
ukadmin@conservation.org.fk